Testimonials:

Mr Aidan Sherry from Nerja said: "Anyone who has moved abroad and has a pension, particularly if they have worked in local government or the civil service, would be well advised to speak to QROPS experts like Expat Pensions. Talking to Angela South has made all the difference to my life here. Expat Pensions obtained for me a lot more money than I thought I would get, and talking to them and taking their advice has worked out massively in my favour."

Jane Bispham from La Nucia, Alicante, said:
"Angela South took on a very complicated case and discovered that payments had not been made by my employer into my pension fund over a number of years. Over the next nine months she pursued the case down every avenue until she achieved a tremendous result, winning me a sum far in excess of what I expected. My retirement in Spain has been made considerably easier by her dogged persistence."

Debbie Fletcher of Bullas, Murcia, wrote:
"My pension fund had been ravaged by the fall of the Stock Market. Angela South advised me on timing as the market improved and this enabled me to achieve a 25 per cent increase in the pension fund. Her attention to detail and customer service was first rate and I can recommend Expat Pensions to anyone living abroad who wants to make the most of their money."

Helping you make more of your money

Expatriate Pension Providers Ltd

Expatriate Pensions works throughout Europe and beyond helping UK citizens who choose to live abroad to make the most of their money and assets.

The business was established nearly three years ago to take advantage of opportunities that arose when an EU Directive on freedom of money throughout Europe came into force. This meant that our expatriate clients could take advantage of the opportunity to move their life savings overseas with them and secure their future in retirement.

Expatriate Pensions is one of Europe's leading advisers on HMRC approved QROPS (Qualifying Recognised Overseas Pensions) and has offices in Costa Blanca South and Costa Calida. We also have representatives covering the Costas from Moraira to Marbella with local access to Expatriate Pensions advice available by appointment in Javea, Benitachell, Villamartin, Mazarron, Mojicar and Nerja.

We also advise clients in France and Cyprus through a network of advisers who call on Expatriate Pensions for expert QROPS and investment advice. We have advised clients as far afield as Monaco, Dubai, South Africa and Malaysia, all with the aim of maximising their finances and helping them navigate through the pensions maze.

Expatriate Pensions was born out of the opinion of the directors that there are an increasing number of expats who are being dealt with unfairly by the UK pensions system. The economic climate in recent years, coupled with the demise of the pound against the euro, has hit many former UK residents hard and meant that they have been receiving a lower monthly income than they had expected when originally making the decision to live overseas.

Angela South Managing Director

Angela South is one of the most experienced pension consultants working in financial services in the UK and across Europe.

In a career stretching over more than three decades she has advised on a wide range of financial matters, including pensions and investments, specialising in inheritance tax.

Her rise up the career ladder has seen her gain wide experience in financial services while maintaining a reputation as one of the top performers at companies like Scottish Amicable over a long period of time – at the same time as bringing up three small children. She has worked for bluechip companies including Scottish Amicable, Prudential and Scottish Widows.

Her interest in retirement planning for UK expats in Europe comes from her decision to spend more time in Spain with a view to becoming expatriate herself in due course. This led to her researching the options currently available to expats for financial planning and maximising their income in retirement.

She now dedicates her working life to maximising income for expats in Western Europe from her homes in Stratford-upon-Avon and the Costa Blanca in Spain.
